Native Audio Recording Script

Akwaaba, and medaase for lending your voice. ☐

Sankofa Twi currently speaks with a computer voice. Recording these words in a real, warm, human voice — yours — is the single biggest thing that will make the app feel authentic to learners reconnecting with their heritage. You're reading 710 words and 88 example sentences across 65 units.

Take your time. There's no rush, and every take helps.

How to record

- 1. Find a quiet room. Soft furnishings help (a room with a bed or sofa beats a bare kitchen). Turn off fans, TVs, and anything that hums.
- 2. Use your phone. Open Voice Memos (iPhone) or Recorder (Android). Hold the phone about a hand-span from your mouth, slightly to the side — not straight on — so your breath doesn't pop.
- 3. Warm and natural. Speak the way you'd teach a grandchild: clear, friendly, unhurried. Not a robot, not a newsreader — just you.
- 4. One unit at a time. Before each unit, say its number out loud (“Unit two”). Then read each Twi word in the middle column once, pause for two full seconds, and go to the next. The pause lets us split the clips cleanly.
- 5. Read the bold Twi only. The English “Meaning” column is just so you know what you're saying — please don't read it aloud.
- 6. Example sentences: read them as you'd really say them in conversation, with natural rhythm.
- 7. Trust your ear. The “Say it like” hints are only guides. If you'd naturally say a word differently in Asante Twi, your pronunciation always wins — just tick the box and, if you like, say your version twice.
- 8. Mistakes are fine. If you fumble a word, pause, then simply say it again — we'll keep the good take. No need to start over.
- 9. Save & send. Save each unit as its own clip (name it “Unit 02”, “Unit 03”...) and send them over however's easiest. That's it — medaase paa!
